Okay, okay... lets get this derailed train back on track....

If you are really interested in photo-real manips starting with Vincent's tutorials in our tutorial section would be the way to go.

Vincent is brilliant... but this still is not going to help with the "I want to see arm hair" problem. You really need to take baby steps... 1st step... quit being lazy and set up your images to "clean " them up. Even Playboy still airbrushes their images... most women don't want arm hair showing... at least that seems to be the idea from my last two girlfriends....

Get your images.... enlarge them to a size you want them... then get your smudge tool out and knock out all of the dirty pixels. YOu will be amazed at how NOT being lazy can pay off.

And please... do not try to bullshit a bullshitter... no excuses... just do it.
