

Forum: Sketchy Sketches

Topic: nightmother - Graphite and graphics.

Subject: Re: nightmother - Graphite and graphics.

Posted by: Biohaz_Daddy

Posted on: 2007/8/3 15:25:00

Quote:

nightmother wrote:

Thanks for the comments Bio.

Yes it was done with photographic reference, and yes it is a fair representation of my skills at the human anatomy.

I like to practice my eye at art with studies of H.r.Giger and Paul Booth.

I also have become adept at Simpson-ising people, I love to tackle Manga/anime, and pretty much will turn my hand to just about anything if it facinates me or I find it fun to learn.

I am happy to try and answer any questions you may have. So feel free to ask.

I was just trying to get a point of reference to be able to give you fair comments.

Your info actually helped a lot. My initial impression was that this was a bit of a caricature, so your influences of Giger and Groening makes sense. Any advice i might give would be dependent on what direction you want to go.