I worked for a company who's union did nothing but rape your paycheck.

I now work for a company that is in dire need of a union because the higher ups need a kick in the rear really bad.

On this, I don't know enough on the issue to throw in on either side. And who's to say I would pick a side even if I knew? Maybe a whole crop of new "good" writers will pop up out of this. Most likely somebody's gonna cave in though.
