I think the 200-400 items to load might be a problem with your browser and/or computer. My PC loads 3 items. one small gif file for each of the color bars and does not slow anything down even a little.

Depending on which browser is being used, there are settings that can either help solve (or cause) some the image loading problems. For example you can have your browser set to refresh all content every time you visit or refresh a page, which is bad for HM because of the reptitious images used on the site (all those smilies, avatars, pictures of Lady HM, etc.).

Of course you might just have a sucky internet connection, or a sucky hard drive with little space for image caching, or a sucky clock speed, or your computer might just be sucky in general.

Well, my sucky connection is 5 Meg Cable, my sucky HD is 90 Gigs about half full, and my sucky computer is a Core 2 Duo, 2.16 GHz, 2 G Ram, 512 nvidia vid card. I run IE 7, all up to date, and thankfully still run Win XP, also up to date.
