

Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Writers Guild of America Strike

Subject: Re: Writers Guild of America Strike

Posted by: Wasmith

Posted on: 2007/11/13 8:35:42

Wow... Chillyplasma pretty much stated with 100% clarity the way I feel about this strike.

I mean, these writers were paid for their efforts already. Why should they suddenly be eligible for whatever additional value their efforts may have attained after their compensation? If I sell you a house today for $200,000 and you turn around and sell it for $250,000, do I deserve part of the $50,000?

If the writers are unhappy with their current level of compensation, then they should each renegotiate their salaries based on the free market and their corresponding skill.

Blah blah blah.....