Our Web Host recently suspended our account.

They did this because they say we are resource hoarding Bandwidth hogs. We moved to this server for multiple reason. One it wasn't in the USA so the insane record keeping laws of 2257 didn't have to be followed and 2 our last host suspended us for being resource hoarding bandwidth hogs

Needless to say, our current host offered us unlimited bandwidth , but apparently unlimited has limits and we have reached them.

A large portions of the site have now been takin offline for the majority of members here. also large sections of this site have been completely removed for everyone.

for those in the lurker majority, yes we know the members gallery probably isn't visible to you at this time, there is no need to make a dozen new topics about the subject.

As we determine what is causing this bandwidth issue and work it out with our host or find a replacement host and move this tubby bitch of a site to it. things will remain mostly like there currently are.

sorry for the Open site being cut short for you all.

Have a Nice Day
