Yes, the secret santa is still going on. Daruma should have the e-mail address's of everyone involved from when you send your images to him. He also has the list of all of you guys involved, so if the site goes down again. expect your image to be e-mailed to you until we can figure more out.

Also I hope to have more of the site working at that point. We may even just post the images to photobucket and then hotlink them to this thread. to reduce bandwidth.
