

Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Changes to the site - forced changes

Subject: Re: Changes to the site - forced changes

Posted by: chillyplasma

Posted on: 2007/12/14 11:21:54

A lurker is someone who... lurks, member or not. That means visiting the site without saying anything (we can tell by the number of posts under your name, 3 is pretty lurkerish for 2+ years).

If you had made comments or taken part in forum threads you would not be a lurker.

Artistic skill increases with practice. With some of these modern mediums it is possible to make images without any artistic skill... I do it all the time!

But, off the top of my head, some ways non-artists could contribute to heromorph:

- encouragement via comments
- offer to help with site administration
- fan fiction
- find 'new' artists and encourage them to join (not currently)
- find companies who want to advertise on HM
- come up with other fundraising ideas for HM

That's just off the top of my head! The point is, there are always ways to help.