I have no idea if my pic will reach D_W in time, so I've come up with a plan B. I am writing an accompanying story. The story will be posted on time, even if the pic is a bit late (like a day or two). So don't worry about me.

Late is late.

Are you asking for someone to replace you or are you going to have something to post on christmas? If you are not requesting to be replaced and end up being late, you will get barred from any and all future contests and group challenges handled by this site. If you have already cleared it with Daruma to send a finished story instead of an image then that is OK. Any and all gifts must be finished in time for christmas.
