

Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Writers Guild of America Strike

Subject: Re: Writers Guild of America Strike

Posted by: Masterchief

Posted on: 2008/1/3 7:40:24

Here is a simple fix that will take care of ALL unions. Do what Reagan did in the 80's when he fired the striking air traffic controllers, give those that wanted to work a chance to cross the line and then fired the rest and made it so they could never work in that field again. Unions are nothing more than lazy Americans wanting more money for less work, which raises the prices on American goods to the extent it is cheaper to buy made in China crap than to buy something that was made in the USA. Obviously the writers are doing well enough that they can spend several months away from work otherwise they would have made more of an effort to solve the issues at hand instead of whinning about them. Do they have a point...Probably, do I really care...Not really. Most shows on tv suck anymore anyway so it is more enjoyable to join Hawk, Jr, DW, Dar, and yes even Bio surfing porn on the net...that is when I can get it past the filter

. I figured I would throw my .02 in before the thread gets locked