Try identifying at least one character in each pic and then do a search. It's a big job, I know, but it would probably take less time than waiting around for the people who recognize these pics to spot your thread, look up the pic again ('cuz who keeps them memorized?) and post the url for you.

These are very good pics, so I wish you good luck in finding them, but don't hold your breath.

He is just too lazy to actually take the time to browse the galleries on his own time.
