I gotta admit that I was a lurker member for a long time. I did and still do appreciate all the time and effort all artists put into their craft. I have been posting some in the last few weeks and even donated a little to the site. I hope to start making my presense more noticable in the coming future by expressing myself more. This is a kick ass site that needs to stay around for as long as possible. To all artists who make this site as awesome as it is, I say thank you and please don't stop!
