Now that the dust has settled and I have had a day or two to play with the site, I can say that I love the new look and feel and congratulate Winterhawk and any others that worked on this. Job well done, mission accomplished, kudos and all that jazz.

I am no longer having problems with IE (I think that stands for Intermittent Exploder or maybe Irritating Experience), and of course I usually have no problems with FireFox. You IE people need to enter the 21st century and download FireFox...

I think that the art used in the theme is great, and I especially like the weird angry turd monster, maybe he's "X-Turd" or possibly "Power Poo"?
