Funny... Now that I know what is up... I still don't have any desirer to watch it.

Gotta agree here; I haven't watched the show myself, but according to this summation they still haven't answered the most interesting aspects of Lost (to me, anyway):

What is/was the Dharma Initiative and why is the island so special?

My own theory: After having escaped an island with some other castaways, a certain 'Professor' returns there to run some experiments (how else do you explain some of the weird shit that happened to Gilligan and crew on that island, and yet not one person ever saw it?).
