I am personally a leg-butt guy (see my posts :P) But I find no problem with larger-than-normal boobs. I mean, most superheroines are stacked, but to me that sort of conveys the outward appearance of being a superheroine. An ugly, floppy character, no matter how epic her powers may be, is not going to get the press that a young, stacked girl will, regardless of her abilities. And I must say, DC has definitely kicked the stuffing out of Marvel when it comes to this topic. I'm a Marvel guy myself, but I can't help but compare my Marvel ladies (Shulkie, Black Cat, Storm and Rogue) to the DC Pantheon of Endowment (Power Girl, Wonder Woman, Zatanna, Black Canary) Most Marvel girls can't compare, size wise, anyway. And don't even get me started on Battle Chasers...

All in all, I like my hero girls with bigguns. Yup. Sad as it is to say, a female lead that doesn't catch your eye won't do well most times, no matter how well written she may be.
