Why is it that every time this subject comes back up, I feel like a picky bastard? I mean I once saw a stripper with triple F's and my first reaction was..... revulsion?? Those things were bigger than the rest of her body. I have no clue how she was able to stand up straight.

At the same time, I also can't stand seeing women so flat that they're inverted. Hell, I can't stand seeing women who have big tits and no ass or no tits and giant ass.

The big ass discussion tends to rake my nerves anyways just for the simple fact that when I see a woman with shelf booty, I want to put my beer down on it. And I completely expect it to walk away.

I guess what I'm sayin is, I hate too much of both. But I also hate too little of both. As long as the overall body shape looks proportionate??? I'm all for it.
