hey all,

don't know who here is a hoops fan, but there is a little thing called the NBA Finals going on and the Boston Celtics are playing the Los Angeles Lakers. this morning, I bet the Lakers and celebs, including dear old Jack, are saying "What the fuck!"

how does one have a 20-odd point lead and lose by seven in the end? certainly one of the more enjoyable games I've seen. since, according to the experts, no team has come back from a 3-1 hole, it might be safe to say Beantown will be celebrating it's 17th banner this Sunday as a Father's Day present to all New England dads. any thoughts or comments?
