

Forum: Commisions and Requests

Topic: Body part request

Subject: Re: Body part request

Posted by: JMPerkins

Posted on: 2008/6/18 15:04:30

Jr, you're absolutely right. I should have been more specific on what I wanted. I think my definition is pretty close to everyone elses'. I don't necessarily have a problem with painting to get a manip to come out the way I want. Same thing for franking a 3D arm and hand. I've tried several different ways over time and using actual photos as much as possible is the best way for me make the image come out the way I want it to. What does bother me with painting, it usually doesn't come out looking like part of the photo. That's what I meant about not being a painter. Just not my thing but as you say, any way that gets it done and it looks good, who cares how it's accomplished.

That image you pointed me to is the closest thing I've seen so far. Thanks a bunch!

I appreciate your thoughts. Thanks to everyone who responded.