I also put a lot of thought into this because this is really close. Both manips are amazing. I really liked Bio's manip right away, it had instantly recognizable characters and it looked cool. On the other hand, if not for the title Hawk's manip it would have taken a while to figure out who these characters were. (I have seen Yu-gi-oh GX with my son and grandkids so I do know the show.)

Technically they are both very good but I give the edge to Hawk. As for the layout, I agree that Hawk's does seem to show more of a theme, it has more complexity than Bio's.

This is so close that I would like to call it a tie, but I won't.

My vote goes to Hawk.
