OK I have seen the hi def trailer about 47.5 times, and have held my copy of the TP up to the screen. The similarity (fidelity?) between some panels and the corresponding scene in the trailer is pretty damn amazing. If they put that much attention to detail (like using the novel itself as a storyboard) then I will be happy.

Still don't know about Nite Owl II. He looks too buff in the scenes... and I happen to know there is a scene in the movie where Dan is all fat and sorta staring at the costume with a look of sadness, so I'm not sure what's going on with this aspect.

But when Silk Spectre walks slowly down the stairs.... yum. I want one.
