ok, I'll bite.

So far that I've noticed the Batman movies seem to be working because they are NOT using huge named actors. It's a theory I've heard over why Christopher Reeves did so well as Superman. I think Angelina's too well known an actress to be playing in a Batman movie, period

I mean look at the old Batman movies. Seriously, it stopped being about the story of Batman and started being "What big named star can we get to be in the next movie?" and "How much more of a circus can this get?"

If they stick to what they're doing they won't screw it up.
