im with Thayne, each character is too big, they are about 60 years old, there have been hundreds of interpretations in the comics, and theres a reason why they're still popular around the world.

The thing about famous actors is that they always play themselves, and many times the character we see on a film, has been built or adapted, so it resembles the "famous actor" that plays it.

the actors that have appeared in this Batman's movies are real talented, but kind of a more low profile (most of them)

No doubt Angelina is hot, but they could pick another hot girl, that tries to become Catwoman, instead of adapting Catwoman to Angelina
