Nah haven't bought it yet JR but like the sound of your statement though. I know the one I'm ordering won't replace my desktop PC and I really don't need it to. It's only single core integrated graphics and all, but I wanna be able to "draw" on the picture I'm working on.

I am tired of using a mouse and the wacom tablets are like trying to draw on a paper and see it on a wall. Wacom makes a tablet that is like a tablet PC but its overly expensive and to many cables for me. I'm hoping the Motion slate is what I'm looking for I've been to alot of tablet pc sights and they seem to be used by alot of artists sooo....
