OK...I'm not a computer genius...but, I know we have some here:

A friend sent me several movies in chunks, ie, a 700Mb movie cut up into 3 or 4 parts. They are in ".AVI" format, and what I'd like to do is get them all hooked together so that they are the full-length movies, and I can watch them without having to go to the next folder. (Poor Ilsa! Cut up like an orange!
)

So, my question is this: do any of our techno geniuses know of any free / shareware programs that will help me on this? Or am I gonna be stuck watching these 'B-movies' one part at a time?

Appreciate any help on this subject.
