Not sure if anyone has had this occur but it has happened enough to me for a bit of blowing off steam.

If you are going to rate a pic I don't care if its a 10 or a 1 at least comment as to why. When I see my comments not advance by one but the votes do then, WTF?

If you think it is worth a particular rating, high or low then at least come down from art critique Olympus to give us peasants the reason why.

Otherwise what is the point of even voting.

Ok. I feel better now.

You may go about your business.
