When the voting was first turned back on. Someone said they never give 10's. Some people feel that only god is capable of a 10.

Me personally, I don't vote until I'm sick of commenting. And honestly, if you got an 8..... Shut your mouth. An 8 is still damn good. I don't worry about it until I start seeing 5 or below.

One thing you could try is..... occasionally evaluating your body of work as a whole. Sometimes you might see where you could improve or what the difference was that caused the discrepancy in your ratings.

Oh and try to remember one man's trash is another man's treasure.
