While i agree with Chilly that the team-ups seem to create better artist interaction, i feel this could work with one very crucial change, and that is a 'one pic a day' rule for every artist who posts in the main gallery. i think this would ensure that every one's work has got the same amount of exposure. i doubt folks would be that happy with it, but as it would help other, slower posters get the same amount of exposure as folks who post the full three pics a day maximum, they couldn't really complain. oh well, thats my five cents.

also, more team-ups!
