What I seriously hate is when I click on 2d, 3d, or manip subcategories is that only 1 or no pictures are showing up. I like seeing the last 10 postings of a category like it was. As it is, I have to dig to see what is new and I really do not like that.

For me what grabbed my attention most is the random images. Perhaps it would have in having the 2d & manip images be the random images in the 3d Area and vice versa.

Nothing has changed with the galleries code or operation, we simply moved images from two galleries and put them together into one gallery. Then we turned off the other 2 galleries. the subcategories work the same as they always did.

as for the random window, we can look into what the module provides for options and if further hacking of the gallery module is worth the effort to create new versions.
