Sorry Hiss, I think the rest of the members hijacked your thread. You touched on a subject that's been repeatedly discussed since before I first joined.

Now, I can't quite remember exactly what I last posted in here, but.... I don't demand people comment. If they do, and they have something substantial to say, then I'm all appreciative. I agree with the general guide comment and also that my scale differs from everyone else. To me 6-8 is decent. Above that is amazing. And 5 or below is when I think it's time to fix some issues.

On the better artist comment. I guess this is where I get all mushy and blame this entire site and it's people for giving me the idea to become an art teacher. I hope you're happy with yourselves, you bastards
