

Forum: Commisions and Requests

Topic: Going Crazy Making Avengers

Subject: Re: Going Crazy Making Avengers

Posted by: thestarkiller

Posted on: 2008/10/30 2:42:31

I've actually got the flash wings. I had thought of that too, but if it'll be easier to achieve the same affect a different way I wanna try that first. I'm not opposed to the idea, it's just a last resort because they don't really look the same.

The way I look at it is if this pic was meant to get made, I'll find what I need eventually. I've been developing this on and off in between projects for 3 months now and I'm not giving up anytime soon. I just need to take a break from it and clear my head. While I'm waiting for the rest of the pieces to fit into place I'm going to work on perfecting the pieces I already have. Such as Hulk. I'm currently working on an image with him and Spidey. I tweaked the x,y, and z scales a bit to give him more girth.

I've heard some pretty good ideas concerning the head wings for Cap, all of which seem as though they may work with a little tweaking and post-production, and thanks to Winterhawk I've found several good hammers for thor and gotten a pretty good suggestion for how to do Wasp's wings. Right now, my biggest headache is coming from Thor's costume. I would sell my sister to cannibals right now for a good M3 Classic Thor texture.

Thanks for the suggestion. If all else fails I may be able to modify the Flash wings a bit in photoshop.