The complete title of the show is Batman: The Brave and the Bold. Its based on a comic from the 60's and 70's (I think) that contained a different team-up every month but I thought it was always a team-up with Superman and someone else. I could be wrong. The art style of the show is more of a silver or golden age looking Batman combined with a cartoon. I like it quite a bit. No Junior, Batman is not funny in it. The show itself is more lighthearted than BTAS was but Batman is still pretty no-nonsense. There is humor but it comes more from the co-stars. The show actually is quite good.
