I was surfing the web and found a link to this.

<http://www.giveawayoftheday.com/artstudio-112/>

a Program called art studio that is free for anyone if they grab it in the next 8 hours or so. Now it says you have to install it before the time period runs out.

The file is small and the program itself if like a simplified version of Photoshop from what I can see of it.

So for those of you that do not have a image software program or are just looking for something else to play with this may be for you.

Check it out. it is free after all.
