Well Watchmen was out and I enjoyed it.

Before the movie it had a Wolverine trailer and one for Terminator as well.

Both looked really good. Wolvy looks like it may suffer from an over abundance of characters though.

To many all at once. now this was my original fears for the first x-men movie as well and they pulled that off really well. So I know I will be going to see this one at the theater as well when it is out.

Terminator, I dunno, after seeing this new trailer, I was kinda blah. I don't know. Not impressed.

There seemed to be an awful lot of force intensity in the trailer and it left me with less of a desire to see the movie. I think the concept if kinda old and tired now. I know I will see it but I most likely will wait for video now.
