we upgraded the forums,

You may or may not notice much of a difference for the user end of things, but there was a very large difference on the admin side.

Also the forums, now have an rss feed.

For gold members you may notice that the extra block with the gold member forums is gone. that is because all recent posts and threads share this block. only gold members can see the gold member threads and posts. Reg members can not, they simply do not show up on there list.
