Good Afternoon Heromorphers.

My name is William and I am the owner of X-Formity. I just wanted to stop by and introduce myself and let everyone here know how excited I am about the future of Heromorph. We have some changes that we will be announcing later today or maybe in the morning. These are exciting changes that I am positive you will all like. One of our first changes is that we will be phasing out the adult section. The adult section is not part of our "business plan." Anyway, I must get back to the drawing table and finalize our plans.

Look for more information later today.

Thanks
Will
