

Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Web design help, does anyone have experience with this?

Subject: Re: Web design help, does anyone have experience with this?

Posted by: OCP

Posted on: 2009/6/5 5:21:08

I've been using webhost for test and to store some files to use on my blog and it offers good webspace (350MB, I think) but for images I advice you to do as Hawk said. That's what I do anyway.

Yola.com I've tried it and seems pretty good too, although some files are not allowed there and the interface is not very user friendly but I tried it back when it was synthasite so things might be better this days...