And as before the colours can be easily changed as you can see.

A word of advice, if you're loading the new one into Photoshop as a bitmap and want different colours than the default yellow and orange, then I'd recommend either changing the colour first in Illustrator, or bring it in at high res like 600 dpi then scaling down if need be.

Bringing it in at 72 dpi makes the outlines on the new logo just too fine to easily select with the paint bucket.

In any case, enjoy. Maybe someday I'll tackle WW's logo.
