Here's an idea...

When the guard who was choked walks up to the two guards, Jacobs (pre-eye gauged) and his buddy. Show the choked guard walking towards them from the side, not from the front. Like going down a corridor.

Next, the two guards see him coming and saying hey, what up but gets not response. Now that the choked guard is upon them, he draws his gun and shoots one guard in the head while stabbing his finger into Jacobs' eye.

Gives you a whole new perspective on the approach.

Hope that gives you some help. If not, then maybe a giggle?
