Gimme something to do! However, please bear in mind that I'm only using Corel photo/paint 7, nothing near as fancy as photoshop. Corel photo/paint isn't that bad of a program especially if you can make sweet beautiful art with it. Not to mention that I like the idea of having a little help with coming up with ideas for new images. So, this is going to be a homework assignment that targets a member's weak spot. Do you think that people want to work on an image that is based on their weak spots. Also, I have been asked to do a tutorial on a few things do we need members to post tutorials that will help in this quest? Tutorials are great but it takes time out of our images. I tried and tried to make a tutorial on metal/chrome but couldn't come up with the words to explain how I did it. It is tough work. BUT on top of that, I am game for this little endeavor! It sounds like a lot of fun?
