A decent idea there Hawkster. For those who may have li'l ones poking about whilst browsing the net, a family safe environmental option could be good. Hopefully at some point there will be a user control, just to alleviate the workload of you mods from constantly having to update accounts, but for the time being, this is a great option.

Kudos to those who requested it, and to yourself for responding so well!

And no, I'm not opposed to the occasional appearance of bosoms in art, and I didn't just write to kiss @$$.

But I have a Niece and Nephew that, when younger, were all too curious about ...shall I say...anatomical depictions.

So i can see where some families may want this option.
