Well, I wanted to thank everybody for another great turnout. People always seem to bring their 'A' game for the Secret Santa event, and this year was no exception. Everybody's pictures have been switched over to your personal galleries.

In addition, I wanted to offer a personal apology to Fawnheart, for the poor treatment you received when you signed up. You had never posted anything before, and we had no way of knowing if you were even an artist. I thought for sure that you'd get your picture and never post one, leaving someone without a 'present'. But not only did you do a fantastic picture, you were the first to send one in. So let me say, sorry for being a jerk, and also welcome you an overdue 'Welcome to Heromorph!'
