hey,

the other day I was visiting www.mania.com and it had an article "7 Movies That Make A Grown Man Cry". in it, they give seven films whose endings affect even the most hard, macho individual. they are:

KING KONG-Death scene
RED DAWN-Father asks to be avenged before dying TERMINATOR 2-Arnold giving the thumbs up before melting STAR TREK 2-Spock dies
RETURN OF THE JEDI-Vader dies
GOONIES-"It's our time."
ET-ET bids goodbye before leaving

I was a bit affected at the end of JEDI, T2 and STAR TREK 2, but I admit without shame that at the end of KING KONG (the most recent one) and ET, I bawled my eyes out like a baby. Not having seen RED DAWN or GOONIES, I can't make a judgement. anyone here agree or have a film not mentioned that they cried at? if anyone is interested, the link is the following:
