I just joined up in late 2009 so I don't think I should nominate, but will be happy to vote when the time is right, but I was wondering, is there some reason everytime I try to upload an image or even click a link, I am getting redirected to the Heromorph Awards nomination page???? Will it stop now that I responded?

Sorry about that it appears the moderator that coded the block at the top of the gallery page forgot to close off his link code with a `` so it was taking over the whole page

And yes it really was OCP's fault.

Oops! Sorry about that. My bad.

And Erotijoy, you being a recent member of this great community that is Heromorph don't mean you can't or shouldn't nominate. In fact, being new to the site you just might give imparcial nominations without being influenced to pick the popular artists and so on...
