

Forum: Comic Book Corner

Topic: Inflation

Subject: Re: Inflation

Posted by: Biohaz_Daddy

Posted on: 2010/3/13 6:20:19

Quote:

OCP wrote:

Quote:

JrMcDeath wrote:

And just think, gas cost $.10 cents in 1938... $1.20 in 1985... and $2.75 now. It even cost more to drive and get you over priced comics. Yet another reason to quit collecting.

Man, and I thought gas was more expensive over there than here.

As I understand it a lot of the European countries subsidize a large portion of their social programs through their gas tax.

One of the things to keep in mind about the cost of comics is that it's overall market has shrunk, so the per unit production costs have increased as a result. One more nail in the comic coffin.