*** Warning *** Navigating to the below links will direct you away from Heromorph and take you to an adult webpage. There are images in advertisements that might offend some people. One of our members sent me an email sharing the fact that I was "Yet again famous". He sent me a link to a web page that had one of my images posted there. So, I did a search and found a few more. THEN... I decided to do a search of other members of HM. The web page appears to have an enormous amount of content but I did manage to find a few other images by our members. This web page is not claiming ownership of said images... just posting them.

So... what is your take on other web pages allowing their users to post images that are not theirs?

I have not read one of Jinky's comics (yet)... but there sure is a lot of nudity in them. I know... I know...Someone spent some time modding her comic.
