Well, for my 2 cents:

If the art was posted by the makers for free, then I don't think the artist who made the image would feel too bad to see it posted elsewhere, as long as proper credit was given to its maker (I've seen my own 'art' posted at E-Hentai galleries as well, and was thrilled that someone thought well enough of it to share it ).

Stuff taken from paysites is another topic; since the artist made the image to make money, and posting it elsewhere without his permission isn't right (same goes for taking freely offered material and putting it on paysites).
