I have a very strange request that I'm hoping someone might be able to help me with. A while back I did a Magneto manip but I've since lost the .psd image aswell as the original image of the model I used to create it. I've tried using a reverse image search site (tineye.com) to try and locate it with the Magneto manip but with no luck. So, I'm asking for what might be a miracle here. But can anyone see if they have/can come across the base image that I used? Here's the magneto final heromorph:

The background and model have not been altered from the original image. I really hope someone can help. If not, thanks anyway guys/gals.
