

Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Online Comics

Subject: Online Comics

Posted by: darth_paul

Posted on: 2010/8/20 10:16:03

O.K. so besides posting my web comic, "Unlimited Evil" here, it's mainly posted at the web comics hosting site Drunk Duck. However, in order to do a bit of free advertising for it, I've also submitted it to a variety of web comics listing sites. Most of them have done great for getting page views to the comic, but one in particular just doesn't seem to work and that is onlinecomics.net. It just seems to be a dead site. It never accepted my submission for my comic although it said it would after 3-4 days, and it's been months since I've submitted it. I sent an e-mail to them and got no response. This problem, among others having to do with anything newly added or updated on the site seems to not be accepted and no responses seem to be given whenever anyone asks for help. So, I guess what I'm getting at here has anyone here used that site and had the same problems? Is it just a defunct site and they're too lazy to take it down?