Several years ago the Sci-Fi Channel had a series that took place in the far far future. The characters were a dweeby janitor type, scared of his own shadow, a girl who was genetically a mix of sex slave and carnivore worm(I think) and a re-animated dead guy who had blades he could fire from his wrists.

It was some of the most original writing I've seen and the effects were very well done. I really enjoyed it and I'd like to find it again but I can't remember the name of the show.
