I have to admit that I did not read all of the posts... but to address your concerns (that I read), we did not have a top 9 this last week. We (Mods) could only pick a few images that were worthy of Lady H's "top images". We do not want to pick images just to fill the "top images". Every week, we would like to have 9 images that "WOW" our members. And we have decided that when we have a week that produces only 3 or 4 images that all the Mods go "WOW" about then we are going to fill the remainder of the "top images of the week" with old "Top Images".

You can't put lipstick on a pig and call it good art... soooo... we have decided, during this dead period of quality posting, we will post old images in the "top images" for filler.

Soo... you guys that have commented in this thread post art. You all do great work and if you want the "top Images" back to the way it was, then Post!!!!!!

This is my attempt for site transparency.

I hope this helps.
